

Biographical Information

Great support service to graduate students is a vital part of the overall student experience, but providing this service remains a challenge. As a student here at WBS, you are in close contact with all the support staff, and WBS would like to understand your interaction with the various support staff - faculty support staff, academic support staff, library staff - so that we can provide the best possible student experience for you and all future students.

As a result, we are engaged in research in order to understand the student perception of the support staff at WBS. At the same time, the research forms part of my Masters in Management (Strategic Marketing), and your valuable responses will enable me to offer constructive suggestions to the management of the Business School for both the School's and your benefit.

This questionnaire is completely anonymous and any information obtained from the survey will only be used for my research. No individual person will be affected in any way by your responses. I hope, however, at the end of the research, to be able to derive an 'ideal model' of a university support person in a multi-cultural, multi-ethnic society, and I should really appreciate your help in constructing this 'ideal' person.

You can, however, opt out if you feel unable to continue with this survey.

Thank you in anticipation for your time and attention.

This survey is anonymous and the information obtained is confidential. Please indicate your acceptance, or refusal, to complete the survey

- I agree to continue with this survey

Block 5

This section considers your personal background and the way you see the world in which you live. Please reflect on what you would consider be to your dominant cultural frame of reference. This could be a specific cultural people group (e.g. 'Traditional Zulu', 'Afrikaans'), a broader cultural stance (e.g. 'generally Westernised', 'corporate', etc.). Please only use one or two key words here

Consider again what you take to be your dominant cultural reference point. Please click anywhere on the sliding scale below for each item to indicate the extent to which you believe the following is true of that cultural reference point as a whole (regardless of your personal views of the item).

In my cultural background ...

	Not At All			Occasionally				Frequently
	0	10	20	30	40	50	60	70	80	90	100
...order is more important than new ideas
... society is very strict and everyone obeys the rules
... people ask lots of questions and disagree with leaders at times
... power is shared by everyone
... everyone is encouraged to be part of the team

... the individual is more important than the group
... children are proud of what their parents have accomplished
... parents take pride in the achievements of their children
... boys are better educated than girls
...men are more likely to be managers than women
...people are assertive
... people are empathetic
... people plan for the future
... people solve current problems in preference to long-term planning
... students are encouraged to do their best at all times
... people are rewarded for excellent performance
... people are concerned about other people
... people are indifferent to other members of the community

Please consider the type of support person (academic support, faculty support staff, library) you would like to have helping you and bearing this in mind, rank the following attributes. Please drag your first preference to the top on the list, followed by the second preference, etc. The support person should...

- ... know the relevant procedures
