

Large Map

Glasgow (1989) shows the University at Gilmore Hill (north centre), & the Western Infirmary to its left. The City Centre is situated south & east of Sauchiehall St. Clearly, the modern highways would not have been there in Molema's day.

Glasgow University & Environs

Smaller Map

A Closer Look: Modiri lived on either side of the University at various stages of his Glasgow stay. 311 West Prince's St was then as now a more gentrified area, as the architecture suggests. Alexandra St is the present Elie St, just off the Byres Rd (B080) in working-class Partick. The University was a smaller place, 1914-20, with most lectures taking place in the Main Building, & student life being focused on the Men's Student Union.
