

Abstract

This study investigates the representation of women on the main South African public television news bulletins between 1999 and 2005. The study focuses on the representation of women on Women's Day in South Africa as a case study of the representation of women in television news. A nuanced, complimentary theoretical framework of theories of news production, discourse and semiotic analyses is used. The study uses quantitative content analysis as a stepping stone to make qualitative judgements about media texts. The findings of the study reveal that women are represented in stereotypical roles as mothers, housewives, victims, people in need of government assistance, or passive crowds at national gatherings. The findings of the study also reveal that the news media trivializes and ridicules issues of concern to women and does not treat them as legitimate and significant. Overall the study reveals that television news is a masculine narrative that reinforces negative frames of meaning about women.

Plagiarism Declaration

I Frank Miyane Nxumalo - am a student registered for a Master of Arts degree in Journalism and Media Studies - Student Number 0218068M - in the academic years 2009 – 2010. I hereby declare the following:

- ❖ I am aware that plagiarism – the use of someone else’s work without their permission and/or without acknowledging the original source – is wrong.
- ❖ I confirm that the work submitted for assessment for the above degree is my own unaided work except where I have explicitly indicated otherwise.
- ❖ I have followed the required conventions in referencing the thoughts and ideas of others.

I understand that the University of the Witswatersrand may take disciplinary action against me if there is a belief that this not my own unaided work or that I have failed to acknowledge the source of the ideas or words in my writing.

Signature:

Date:

Acknowledgements

I have received great support and guidance from many people during the execution of the present Research Report. However my deepest thanks should first go to my supervisor, Professor Tawana Kupe for his extraordinary knowledge of journalism and media issues, professional guidance and encouragement. Thank you for making me comfortable with academic writing and research.

Closely linked to academic writing was the extraordinary support I received from Sarah Sinwell who diligently edited and proofread my drafts for typographical errors and pointed out paragraphs and sentences that needed rephrasing for clarity of argument and good English language usage.

I would also like to thank the Department of Journalism and Media of the University of the Witwatersrand, especially the academic coordinator Ms Lesley Cowing for diligently preparing me for higher post graduate study in journalism; and for encouraging me to carry on when at times I just felt overwhelmed by the demands of the task.

My sincere thanks also go to all the staff at the Wartenweiller Library of the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg including those at its Inter-Library Loans section who were always ready to help me with highly complex search of sources.

A big thank you also goes to my employers SABC News for their generous financial support without which this Report would have not been possible and to SABC Television News Archives for making available to me such a wealth of research material.

Finally I would like to thank all the members of my family in Soweto, Johannesburg, for putting up with me for all the long hours, weeks and months that it took to put this Report together. I thank you all for your encouragement in putting this work together.

Johannesburg, June 2010

Frank Miyane Nxumalo

Dedication

This Research Report is dedicated to my daughter and recipient of the prestigious 2009 Harry Oppenheimer Memorial Trust Scholarship to Roedean School in Johannesburg Busisa Nsovo Freda Nxumalo – nee Nunuzi ka Nokuza. May it serve as a constant reminder to her that with higher learning, it is possible to find one's place in enlightened society.

Table of Contents

Abstract.....	ii
Plagiarism Declaration.....	iii
Acknowledgements.....	iv
Dedication.....	v
Table of Contents.....	vi
1. Chapter One: Introduction.....	1
1.1 Aim.....	1
1.2 Rationale.....	1
1.3 Research Questions.....	2
1.4 Limitations of Study.....	2
1.5 Chapter Outline.....	3
1.6 Context of Study.....	3
2. Chapter Two: Literature Review.....	5
Introduction.....	5
2.1 Cultural Studies.....	5
2.1.1 Representation.....	6
2.1.2 Representation as an Ideology.....	6
2.1.3 Language.....	8
2.1.4 Stereotypes.....	9
2.1.5 Objectification of Women.....	18
2.2 Theories of News Production.....	20
2.2.1 Political Factors.....	21
2.2.2 Economic Factors.....	22
2.2.3 Organisational Factors.....	24
2.2.3.1 News Selection.....	24

2.2.3.2 News Frames.....	25
2.2.3.3 Sources.....	26
2.2.3.4 News as a Masculine Narrative.....	27
3. Chapter Three: Methods.....	35
Introduction.....	35
3.1 Overview of Content Analysis.....	35
3.2 Using Qualitative Analysis.....	36
Introduction.....	36
3.2.1 Discourse Analysis.....	37
3.2.2 Semiotic Analysis.....	38
4. Chapter Four: Findings.....	39
Introduction.....	39
4.1 Occurrence of Women Central Issues.....	39
4.2 Patterns of Representation.....	42
4.3 Sex-Role Portrayals.....	43
4.4 Representation of Women as Victims.....	45
4.5.1 Women as Victims of HIV/AIDS.....	47
4.5.2 Women as Victims of Violence.....	48
4.5.3 Gender Victimization in the Workplace.....	49
4.6 Women as Proactive Agents.....	49
4.7 Marginalisation of Women’s Voices.....	51
4.7.1 Marginalisation of Female Sources.....	51
4.7.2 Marginalisation of the Functions of Female Sources.....	52
4.7.3 Marginalisation of Female Protagonists.....	52
4.7.4 Marginalisation of Women in News Roles.....	53
4.7.5 Marginalisation of Female Journalists.....	54
4.7.6 Marginalisation of Female Journalists in News Topics.....	54

4.8 Marginalisation of Women’s Issues.....	55
4.8.1 Marginalisation of Women Central Issues.....	56
5. Chapter Five: Analysis.....	57
Introduction.....	57
5.1 Stereotypical Representation of Women.....	57
5.2 Marginalisation of Women in News.....	59
5.2.1 Marginalisation of Female Sources.....	59
5.2.2 Marginalisation of Women’s Issues.....	63
5.2.3 Marginalisation of Female Protagonists.....	65
5.3 Marginalisation of Female Journalists.....	66
5.4 Objectification of Women.....	66
6. Chapter Six: Conclusion.....	69
7. References.....	73

List of Images

1. Image 1: Rite of passage.....	52
2. Image 2: Traditional dress code.....	53
3. Image 3: A quite moment among friends.....	54
4. Image 4: Tradition and activism.....	54
5. Image 5: Taking a call.....	55
6. Image 6: Celebrating the big day.....	55
7. Image 7: Clearing the rubble.....	56

8. Image 8: Washing the dishes.....	57
9. Image 9: Tribal markings.....	57
10. Image 10: Dreadful skin disease.....	59
11. Image 11: All ears.....	61
12. Image 12: Executive Sedan.....	61

List of Tables

1. Table 1: Occurrence of women central images.....	50
2. Table 2: Distribution of protagonists by gender.....	64
3. Table 3: Gender in news sources.....	66
4. Table 4: Gender in news sources.....	65

List of Figures

1. Figure 1: Distribution of portrayal patterns.....	51
2. Figure 2: Marginalisation of female sources.....	63
3. Figure 3: Function of sources.....	63
4. Figure 4: Marginalisation of women in news roles.....	63
5. Figure 5: Gender gap in newsrooms.....	64
6 Figure: Daily Occurrence of women’s issues.....	66

