To Whom It May Concern

Dear Sir or Madam

My name is Vandana Naran and I am currently an Organisational Psychology Masters student at the University of the Witwatersrand. I am currently conducting supervised research for the purpose of obtaining my Masters degree.

I have chosen to do my research on psychological capital (PsyCap), job satisfaction, commitment and a supportive organisational climate as defined by perceived supervisor support. Psychological capital can be defined as an employee's positive state of development that is characterised by their hope, confidence, resilience and optimism. Job satisfaction refers to an individuals' evaluation of the characteristics of their job and organisational commitment refers to their degree of attachment or loyalty to their employing organisation. Perceived organisational support will be defined in terms of perceived supervisor support and refers to employees' perceptions about the extent to which their supervisor values their contribution and cares about their well-being. My research firstly aims to determine whether there is a relationship between an individual's level of psychological capital and their job satisfaction and commitment. In addition, my research aims to determine whether perceptions supervisor support will impact on this relationship.

In order to examine the relationship between psychological capital, perceived supervisor support, job satisfaction and commitment, data collection is necessary. Your organisation and members of your organisation would be of great benefit to me in the collection and analysis of this data. I would be grateful if you would grant permission for access to employees to invite them to participate in the study by completing a number of questionnaires via an online link. The questionnaires will take approximately 20 minutes to complete. Participation in this study is completely voluntary and completion of the questionnaire will be considered consent. The organisation will not be identified in the study. Employees will remain anonymous and no identifying information will be asked for such as name or identification number. Your organisation will receive the results of the study in the form of a summary at the group level. In order to protect anonymity and confidentiality, no individual or departmental results will be given. Once the study is complete, the raw data will be kept in a safe archive. The questionnaires will only be viewed by me and my research supervisor. If you have any further questions, please feel free to contact me or my supervisor.

Kind Regards,

Vandana Naran

Dear Sir/Madam

My name is Vandana Naran and I am a student at the University of the Witwatersrand. I am currently conducting research in order to attain my Masters Degree in Organisational Psychology. I have chosen to do my research on the relationship between psychological capital, a supportive organisational climate, job satisfaction and commitment.

Psychological capital refers to an individual's positive state of development that is characterised by hope, confidence, optimism and resilience. Job satisfaction refers to an individuals' evaluation of the characteristics of their job and organisational commitment refers to their degree of attachment or loyalty to their employing organisation. Perceived organisational support will be defined in terms of perceived supervisor support and refers to employees' perceptions about the extent to which their supervisor values their contribution and cares about their well-being.

In order to conduct this study, I need to collect data from a number of participants in an organisation. I would like to invite you to participate in this study. Participation is completely voluntary. Employees that choose to participate in the study will be required to complete an online questionnaire, which will take approximately 20 minutes. Your completion of the questionnaire will indicate your consent to participate in the study. Your candid response will be warmly appreciated.

Your identity will remain anonymous. Anonymity will be accomplished by ensuring that no identifying information, such as name or identification number, will be asked for. Participation and non-participation will not benefit or disadvantage you in any way. I will require you to indicate which department you work in. However this information and the completed questionnaires will only be seen by me and my research supervisor, thus ensuring confidentiality. No information will be reported at the department level and any feedback given to the organisation will be at a group level and in the form of a summary. The data will be kept in a safe archive once the research is complete.

Thanking you
