

https://dspace.org/

A (re) look at the (post) Apartheid experience of Black people in South Africa: from the perspective of the Township people of Soweto

Letlonkane, Katlego

2021
https://hdl.handle.net/10539/32195

Downloaded from a DSpace repository. https://dspace.org/

CONTENTS

Plagiarism Declaration		2
Abstract		3
CHAPTER ONE: RESEARCH BACKGROUND AND SCOPE
1.	Introduction	4
1.1	Research Background	4
1.2	Research Questions	7
1.3	Research Aims	8
1.4	Theoretical Departures	18
1.5	Scope of Research, Limitations and Personal Reflexivity and Subjectivity	11
CHAPTER TWO: RESEARCH METHODOLOGY AND DESIGN
2.	Introduction	13
2.1	Method	13
2.2	Data Collection	15
2.2.1	Soweto as a research site	15
2.2.2	Ethical Considerations and Working with Emotions	17
2.3	Using Observations as a critical diversity research methodology	18
2.4	Interviews as a critical research methodology	20
2.5	Quantitative Data Analysis: Working with statistic as a preferred methodology	23
2.6	Deepening Social Justice through Research	24
2.7	Data Analysis	26
2.8	Literature Review	26
2.8.1	The Apartheid Archive Project and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission	27
Conclusion		32
CHAPTER THREE: REFLECTIONS OF (POST)APARTHEID SOUTH AFRICA
Introduction		34
3.1	The conception of apartheid and the constitutional aim for reparation.	35
3.1.1	Apartheid as Inequality	35
3.1.2	The emergence of Constitutionalism	37

3.2 (Post) apartheid expressions: a critical study and the resolve to Black Consciousness 42
3.3 A return to love, what Black Consciousness offers 44
3.4 Conclusion 48
CHAPTER FOUR: RESEARCH FINDINGS AND ANALYSIS
4.1 Introduction 50
4.2 Social Welfare in South Africa 51
4.3 The Home – As a window into the South African society 55
4.4 Crime – As a lens into South African society 60
4.5 Living Income – a social study 64
4.6 Childhood Development – a social study 67
4.7 Health – a social study 71
4.8 Alcohol in South African township communities 76
4.9 A spiritual compromise? 78
4.10 Conclusion 80
CHAPTER FIVE
Conclusion 83

REFERENCES
APPENDIX A: PARTICIPANT INFORMATION AND CONSENT SHEET
APPENDIX B: INTERVIEW QUESTIONS