Mobile Digital library van makes use of satellite connection for connecting to Internet.

User can make selection of books from various available options.

Once the book is selected it can be printed using printer fitted inside the van. After printing the book is bound using scorer, cutter and binding machine.

All this process takes very little time. The power connections and back-up is restored using gensets available inside the van.

The van will go to remote places demonstrating the technological aspects of use of digital library and inculcating reading habits.

CHAPTER I.

"TOM!"

No answer.

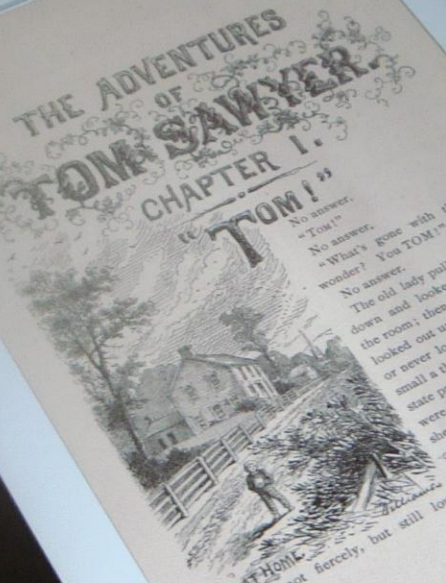

"TOM!"

No answer.

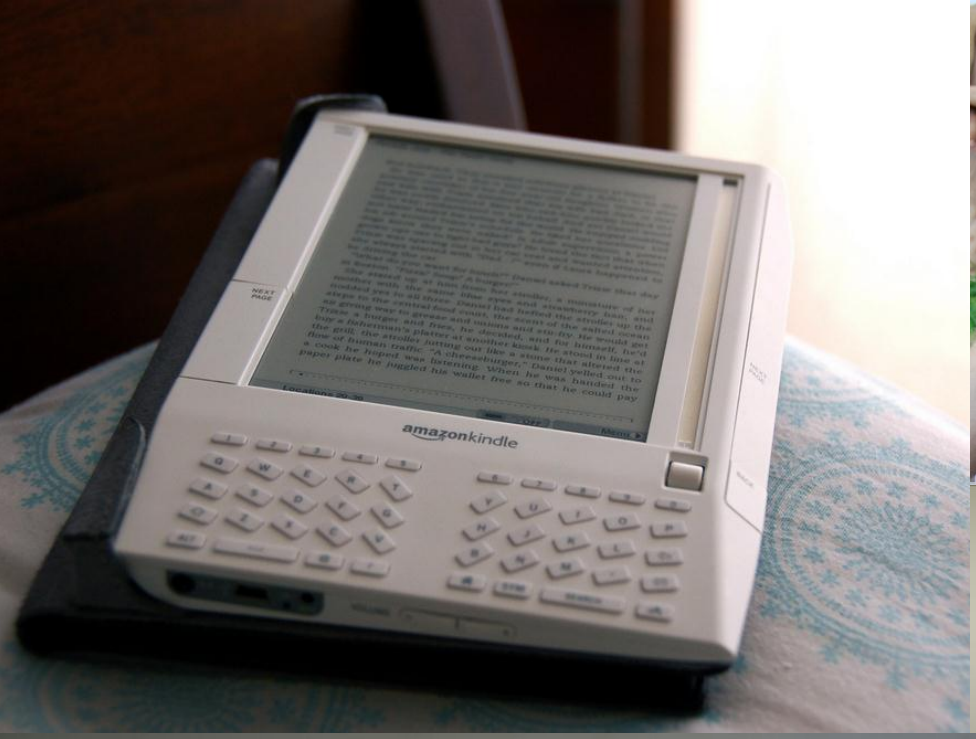

"What's gone with that boy, I wonder? You TOM!"

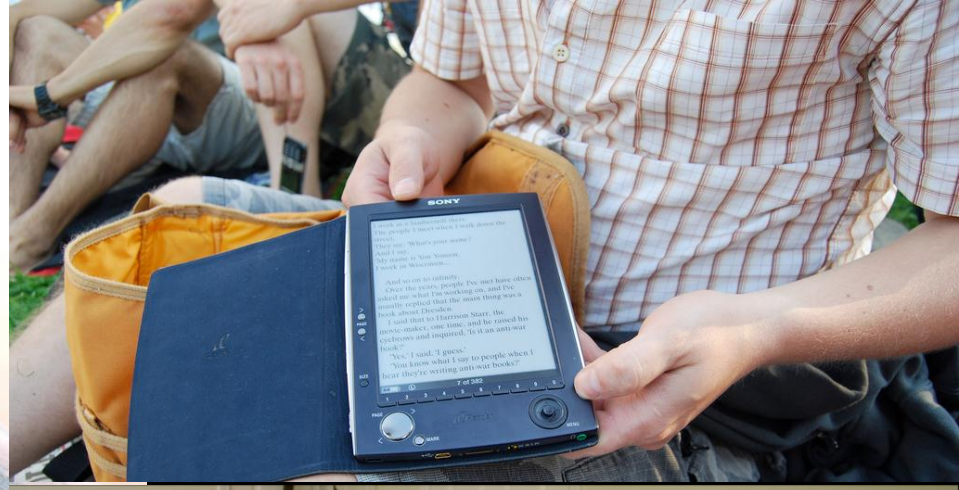

No answer.

The old lady pulled her spectacles down and looked over them about the room; then she put them up and looked out under them. She seldom or never looked through them for so small a thing as a boy; they were her state pair, the pride of her heart, and were built for "style," not service—she could have seen through a pair of stove lids just as well. She looked perplexed for a moment, and then said, not fiercely, but still loud enough for the furniture to hear:

TOM AT HOME.

Re: National Security Letter Dated November 26, 2007 to Internet Archive

Dear Special Agent [redacted]

This letter is in response to the National Security Letter ("NSL") you served upon the Internet Archive through its counsel, the Electronic Frontier Foundation ("EFF"), on November 26, 2007.

As explained below, the Archive is voluntarily providing responsive public information, but is not providing the non-public information requested by the NSL because the statutes governing the NSL, 18 U.S.C. §§ 2709 and 3511, are unconstitutional and because the Archive is not subject to the NSL statute under either 18 U.S.C. § 2709(a) or under 18 U.S.C. § 2709(f).

Understanding 9/11 A Television News Archive

The events of September 11th, 2001 affected the entire world.

The 9/11 Television News Archive is a library of news coverage of the events of 9/11/2001 and their aftermath as presented by U.S. and international broadcasters. A resource for scholars, journalists, and the public, it presents one week of news broadcasts for study, research and analysis.

Television is our pre-eminent medium of information, entertainment and persuasion, but until now it has not been a medium of record. This Archive attempts to address this gap by making TV news coverage of this critical week in September 2001 available to those studying these events and their treatment in the media.

Explore 3,000 hours of international TV News from 20 channels over 7 days, and select analysis by scholars.

Watch a video summary of key events.

LEARNING FROM RECORDED MEMORY: 9/11 TV News Archive Conference

Held on August 24, 2011 at New York University's Department of Cinema Studies, this conference highlighted work by scholars using television news materials to help us understand how TV news presented the events of 9/11/2001 and the international response.

After brief welcoming remarks by Howard Besser, Director of New York University's Moving Image Archiving & Preservation Program and Richard Allen, Department of Cinema Studies, Tisch School of the Arts, New York University, 10 speakers presented the following short talks and ensuing discussion, which you can watch on the Internet Archive.

Japan's devastating earthquake in pictures

TOKYO (AP) -- A powerful tsunami spawned by the largest earthquake in Japan's history slammed the eastern coast Friday, sweeping away boats, cars, homes and people as widespread fires burned out of control. A local news report said at least 15 people were killed.

The magnitude 8.9 offshore quake was followed by at least 19 aftershocks, most of them of more than magnitude 6.0. Dozens of cities and villages along the 2,100-kilometer stretch of the country's eastern shore were shaken by violent tremors that reached as far away as Tokyo, hundreds of kilometers from the epicenter in the sea off the northeastern coast.
