

https://dspace.org/

The impacts of culture and gender in HIV/AIDS lived experiences in education workplaces : case study of selected public schools in Gauteng Province of South Africa.

Amadi-Ihunwo, Uchenna Beatrice

2010-11-10
http://hdl.handle.net/10539/8860

Downloaded from a DSpace repository. https://dspace.org/

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This work would not have been possible without the support and encouragement of Dr. Amadi Ihunwo first in the capacity of my advisor in the final stages of the work. He has been abundantly helpful, and has assisted me in numerous ways, including summarizing the contents of the research findings. I wish to also appreciate the efforts of my supervisor Prof. Brahm Fleisch, under whose supervision I chose this topic and began the thesis.

In my daily work I have been blessed with a friendly and cheerful group of fellow students. Beverly Achieng, the Late Angela Odiambo, Chipo Kadzimira, you made the long journey lighter. Bheki Zungu often made sure that I was not completely famished with stress. You kept me entertained with your huge repertoire of anecdotes and stories. Zakhele Mbokazi, your willingness to help and make sure that I have a great time studying and playing big sister is only matched by your zeal and eagerness to succeed in life. Fatima Adams was a good companion during an otherwise exhausting and disappointing writing process although she did once heighten my stress level. I must confess to have forgotten every bit of that stress the moment baby popped out. Beyond education policy and leadership (which sometimes seemed to be nothing more than a symbolic political representation) Emma Ketzie has been a great compatible neighbour for many years and possesses the greatest quality of taking care of me during my stressful moment: 'three spoons of milk and two spoons of cocoa?'

I cannot end without thanking my family, on whose constant encouragement and love I have relied throughout my time at the University. I am grateful also to the examples of my husband, Dr. Amadi Ihunwo. His unflinching encouragement, courage and conviction will always inspire me, and I hope to continue, in my own small way, academic excellence to which he aspires in his career. Finally, I thank my children: Glory and Godswill for supporting me throughout my studies by not stressing me beyond my limits. Your qualities of understanding are above your age and I adore you guys. It is to them that I dedicate this work.

WitsETD

To my Lord and Saviour: Jesus Christ, I worship. You did not strike me with thunder for being so anthropological. Someone once asked me, ‘Uche where is your loyalty; to God or culture?’ My commitment and faithfulness for ever to you my Lord!

WitsETD

DEDICATION

To:

My husband, Dr. Amadi Ogonda Ihunwo and

My two lovely boys;

Glory Chukwuka and

Godswill Ikechukwu Amadi-Ihunwo

WitsETD

DISCLAIMER

I hereby declare that this dissertation is my own original work and has not been submitted before to any institution for assessment purposes.

Further, I have acknowledged all sources used and have cited these in the reference section.

..... **.....

Uchenna Beatrice Amadi-Ihunwo Date

WitsETD