

(re)connection of an industry

construction industry development hub: alexandra

Philipp Baer
0605722W

Abstract

This thesis the crisis that exist due to lack of interaction within the construction industry and hence aims at (re)connecting the construction industry through a development facility in which various stakeholders come together in order to find solutions to the industry problems. The them of connection, representing both the part and the whole was take on at various levels. Coonecting Industry members, connecting building trades, connecting Alexandra and Kew as well as creating a didactic building in which the connection is take on at a physical level. Thus the details of how different materials and construction techniques come together played a vital part in the development of the the architectural language of the building.

