*...without your help, support and encouragement,
this research would not have been possible.....*

I humbly thank the Lord for directing me in the first place...for opening up the doors and giving me the courage so that I may follow this path.

Thank you to my family especially my children (who graciously understood the hours I spent away from them); my husband (for his silent endurance); my mother(s) and in-laws (who stepped in to support me) throughout this endeavour. All of your words of encouragement and even just being there has been the 'wind beneath my wings'.

I thank all of the adolescents, their parents and caregivers in the study for willingly giving off their time and allowing us to do this study. Thank you to the 2012 'HIV Neuropsychology team' at Wits, the Gauteng Department of Health, Dr Ashraf Coovadia and Dr Karl Tachnau (and their fine team of doctors and nurses at the HIV Clinic) as well as the Child Psychology/Psychiatry unit at Rahima Moosa Mother and Child Unit for their assistance during the project. A special thanks too, to Prof Lorna Jacklin for asking the questions that lead to the initiation of this study.

Lastly, a hearty thank you to Enid Schutte, for her encouragement, her infectious enthusiasm and direction that helped shape this research.
